GARRY KASPAROV

Talent requires hard work. Calculation requires evaluation. Good strategy requires good tactics to succeed.

Already a living legend in a sport with hundreds of millions of adherents, Garry Kasparov has followed his twenty years as the world's top chess player with investigations into decision-making, strategic thinking, education and technology while also becoming a global human rights figure. He is sought out by Silicon Valley CEO's, education ministers, and heads of state. With each lecture updated and customised for time and place, Garry Kasparov challenges his audiences with a blend of inspirations, information and insight that can only be delivered by a peak performer. The charisma and bold outlook that have made Kasparov such a potent force at chess and in politics also make him an unforgettable speaker.

Former World Chess champion, Motivational speaker and author, Chairman of the Human Rights Foundation
